An American Grille influenced by the Flavors of Santa Fe. Pecan Wood, Hatch Valley Chiles and Chef Jose Cruz Leyva's Scratch Kitchen are the Essential Ingredients that we refer to as A FLAVORFUL SPICE. We define a flavorful spice as the ability to deliver multiple spices while maintaining Incredible Flavor. Our Mission is to Set The Table with Innovation, Kindness and Value.

The New Mexican Difference

Pecan Grille - This is considered a pivotal ingredient In Santa Fe Cuisine. New Mexico is the third largest provider of pecan wood in the nation behind Texas and Georgia.

Stacked Enchiladas - With its origins in Taos, NM, this form of enchilada is layered corn tortillas, non fried, and traditionally served with a fried egg on top.

Roasting Peppers - Blackening peppers over pecan wood, sweat, peel, de-vein and seed. This process makes the flavors more aromatic.

Fire Roasted Salsa - Tomatoes and Onions are blackened over pecan wood which contributes to its dark and earthy richness.

Hatch Chile - Hatch, NM is considered the Chile Capitol of the world. Hatch Green Chiles are the defining ingredient of New Mexican food.

Chimichanga - An accidental delight.

The namesake comes from an expletive uttered when a cook dropped a burrito into a fryer by accident.

Christmas - This is a term used when guests request red and green chiles. The difference between red and green chiles is the degree of ripeness when picked. Green Chilies are picked ripe and Red Chiles are left on the vine to dry.

Rellenos - Anaheim Peppers are the mild cousin of the New Mexican Green Chile. Best roasted over pecan wood, peeled and stuffed with a mixture of Cheddar and Monterey Jack. Egg washed and crusted with Panko Bread Crumbs. The Anaheim Chile was introduced to New Mexico by the founder of Santa Fe. Don Juan de Oñate Tamale - Red Chile Masa made with Hominy and Carne Adovada wrapped in corn husks. Tamales were developed as a portable ration used by war parties in the ancient Americas.
